SIGNATURE SCHOLARSHIPS AT BYU-HAWAII

A BYU-Hawaii Signature Scholarship provides a way for you to more personally support students and see firsthand the tremendous impact education has on their lives. Three characteristics make a Signature Scholarship unique:

1. Naming and Designation

A Signature Scholarship allows you to name your scholarship—for yourself, your organization, or a loved one.* Each scholarship is designated for IWORK, BYU-Hawaii’s comprehensive work-study scholarship program. New incoming IWORK students will be selected to receive the scholarship, which will then free up other IWORK donations so they can be used for other IWORK students. Essentially, for every Signature Scholarship created, another IWORK student is supported.

2. Annual Meet and Greet

Each year, Signature Scholarship donors are invited to meet with scholarship recipients via video call. This gives you an opportunity to meet the students you support and hear about how the scholarship is blessing their lives.

3. Affordability

Whereas named scholarships are typically reserved for large endowments, Signature Scholarships are feasible for donors in many financial situations. A scholarship can be established with a commitment of $14,000, which generally will fund one IWORK student per year. The university encourages providing this support over the course of four years or less.**

*Proposed scholarship names will be reviewed and approved by BYU-Hawaii.

**This constitutes an expression of your charitable intent and does not represent a contract, promise, binding pledge, debt, or legal obligation to pay.

*Donations may be received throughout the year and will be awarded starting with the semester following the donation. A scholarship will be awarded each year as long as there are sufficient funds in the account to cover current tuition costs. If there are not sufficient amounts in the Signature Scholarship to make any awards for a period of two consecutive annual giving cycles, then any remaining amounts will be combined with other Signature Scholarships having a similar purpose and the Signature Scholarship will no longer be maintained.
